Subject: Termination of TRUNews

Dear Andy,

I've tried reaching you several days now either by text or through voice mail and have not heard back. I was deeply troubled with the last conversations that we had this week; in particular, those concerning Daryl as well as your Mom. You agreed to deposit funds into my account as well as text me information on eliminating the virus on my laptop computer. I have not heard back from you and if either of these issues were a problem for you, I certainly would have understood.

Not hearing from you has left me extremely uneasy and nervous. In addition, I have been trying to discuss TRUNews with you since its implementation. I am concerned that the site was created with a bit of urgency, with little thought, and with no input from me. When I reviewed the site the following morning, I was shocked at its content. Whereas I found the videos interesting, some of them do not represent my point of view, particularly the first one on Iran. If I were to show that video, I would certainly show other viewpoints such as the last two interviews that Fareed Zakaria conducted with Iran's Prime Minister and the Prime Minister of Jordan. These videos are current; I believe the one on the TRUNews website was conducted in 2003. I consider this irresponsible reporting. The video on the site that you put up this week concerning the homeless does not take the viewer to the CBS Sunday Morning link. I think if you click on it, you will see the problem which can easily be fixed.

I am concerned that Xtagged is quick to put up sites without thoroughly thinking them through. You have a lot of GREAT ideas; however, I am not certain if you have fully thought them out. For example, is there a mission statement, an objective, as well as a thought out plan? On any project you need to ask yourself What, Who, Why, Where, How, and When. A lot of the xtagged blogs can be googled on the Internet; they poorly represent the company and take away from the company's credibility. I know that this is a different generation with twitter, facebook, UTube and blogging. I would like to advise everyone that once something is published on the Internet it is searchable to everyone. Recruiting agencies are now researching these sites when performing background investigations on new employees. So, we ought to think twice and think things through carefully prior to publishing them. Many engineers are poor at writing and spelling and that is not a big deal; what ruins one credibility is when this is made public.

I still think that Xtagged and the rest of your creations can bring in a great amount of capital and I am still excited about your ideas on Karma. I also felt (and still feel) that I could be a great asset to your organization and was looking forward to reviewing these ideas in greater detail with you.

I do hope that all is well with you and your family and please know that you can still call on me both professionally as well as personal. Whenever you've asked anything of me, I have been there at a moment's notice. Please do not take me or my time for granted. I hope that I will hear from you soon and it would be nice if I could get reimbursed for the cost of the TRUNews tag. Again, if not, that is not a big deal. I am requesting that my name be taken off the site until we can determine and agree on the site's objective, its mission, as well as its content.

Regards,

Beckie

We will be supporting Andy to the fullest in his upcoming court case! My name is Steve and i own Karmacause.com for this reason we bought xtagged to verify people that have a worthy cause! Andy did donate 51% to the public or members of xtagged, And Daryl, Ryion and Danny stop emailing & calling trying to talk me and my partners out of xtagged, these guys did everything possible to try to kill this deal, even as far as Daryl trying to say his website is better than xtagged, when he phoned me, as you see below they did not succeed its done, And sadly we had to let go of Becky Dunn Daryl's mother that worked for xtagged because of Daryl's lies. Members if you would like to see the truth go to <https://www.RYIONBUTCHER.com> its that simple. it will all come out in court. Sorry Andy but unfortunately you should have ran away from these people as soon as you talked to Daryl's mother! And Daryl's mother should have spoke out for you, since you paid for her hotel, I seen the letter she wrote for you, she could have done more, and for this reason we have decided not to bring Becky along with us. I hope she uses her portal trunews to express herself because i love to read her writings, Andy would send us her emails very inspiring and her quotes we will set her on front page of xtagged, if she would like to continue on!

Steve (...err, Andy),

I find it really interesting that this week you're all butt-hurt that you had to 'let my mother go', but last week when we spoke on the phone you didn't even know who she was.

Andy, you're an asshole and a pinhead and I will thank you to keep me and my family out of your pathetically transparent scams. Steve may be stupid enough to fall for your crap, but I'm not. It was a blessing not to have heard a peep from you for over two years. Let's try to repeat the blessing?
